

Help your family rest a little easier.

Basic Life is a term life insurance plan that's provided and paid by your employer and is designed to help your family through a difficult time.

It's a good feeling to know your employer is paying for such a valuable benefit that helps provide financial and emotional support for your loved ones in case of your unexpected death.

With Basic Life, you'll have a plan that pays a cash benefit directly to your designated beneficiaries to be used to help cover costs like funeral expenses, mortgage and education. The plan also includes coverage for Accidental Death and Dismemberment (AD&D), which pays out an additional amount for the loss of life or limbs caused by an accident.¹

Consider more coverage with Supplemental Life insurance.

It's important to determine all the expenses and financial commitments your family might face in your absence. If you seek more coverage, you may be able to purchase Supplemental Life insurance, which pays more benefits beyond your Basic Life plan. See your benefit documents or contact your employer to learn about plan availability and options.
